Operators organize, adopt health plan

Letcher County truck miners organized into an association this week and immediately adopted a health insurance plan for their employees and their families.

Both the association and the insurance program are patterned after the ones already in effect in Pike County.

The insurance, which went into effect Wednesday, is handled through the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. It provides:

$12 a day for room and board up to 70 days for each hospitalization.

$240 for special services, such as X-ray and anesthesia.

$300 toward surgical fees.

$15 for the first day, $10 for the second and $5 a day thereafter up to $300 for doctor's care.

$120 maternity room and board and $90 delivery fee.

$5,000 for poliomyelitis patients.

$1,000 life insurance on the employee.

The insurance also covers diagnostic hospitalization, tuberculosis and related diseases, mental treatment, ambulance fees, blood transfusion and blood plasma. It is effective immediately without a waiting period.

Cost of the plan will be borne one-third by the employees and two-thirds by the truck mine operators. The insurance costs $11.68 a month for a family man and $3.55 a month for a single man.

The plan has been approved by the Letcher County Medical Society. Beneficiaries have a free choice of hospitals but a spokesman for the mine operators said it is anticipated they will use Miners Memorial Hospital here.

Bradley Breeding was elected president of the new Letcher-Knott Independent Truck Mines Association. Other officers are Raymond Smith, vice president, and Hillard Collins, secretary-treasurer.

Directors are the officers and Forrest Brown, Kerney Day, Rufus Holbrook, Roland Price, Raymond Smith, Bill Adams, Ivy Caudill, Willard Richardson, Harris Parke, Coy Watts, Herman Combs Jr., Woodford Webb and Leonard Lewis. They were chosen to represent every area of the county, a spokesman said.

The association will be financed by dues of 1 cent a ton from ramp operators and the same amount from coal producers.

The purpose of the group is "to do all things necessary, proper, beneficial and desirable to promote the welfare, efficiency, prosperity and general good of the independent coal mining industry in Letcher County."

Some 300 persons attended the meeting, held at the courthouse Tuesday night.

Four men charged in tippie explosion

Warrants were issued here Wednesday for four men charged with the dynamiting of a building and tippie belonging to John and Landon Sexton at the head of Beaver Creek.

The Sextons swore to the warrants, which name Edward Sexton, Varile Short, Coolie Baker and Earl Baker in connection with incident. The dynamiting occurred Tuesday night.

Members of the Whitesburg Choral Club will present seven selections in their concert to benefit the Whitesburg Ministerial Association, scheduled for Friday night, April 10.

The program includes the following selections by the mixed chorus: "Welcome, Sweet Pleasure," by Thomas Weekes; "April Is My Mistress' Face," by Thomas Morley; "No Man Is An Island," by Joan Whitney; "The Bells," by Foote; "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," by Irving Berlin; "Lonesome Valley," a folk hymn; "The Nightingale," a Hungarian round; "Riding in the Morning," a Czech folk song; and "It's in Love with a Wonderful Guy" and "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Mrs. James Pope, pianist, will present two solos, "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms and "The Cat and the Mouse" by Aaron Copland. Mrs. Huston Westover, director of the club, will present two vocal solos, "When I Bring to You Colored Toys," by Carpenter, and "Charity" by Hagman.

The Women's Chorus will sing "White'er May Vex or Grieve Thee," by Bach; "Sapphic Ode," by Brahms and "Alleluia," by Mozart.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and will be presented at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Moncrief expressed deep appreciation to all those who worked to make the drive a success. Space does not permit individual mention of the many who gave of their time and contributed so generously, including several children who emptied their penny banks to help other children who are crippled.

Copies needed

Do you save old papers? Here at The Mountain Eagle, we are in need of copies of The Mountain Eagle for May 22, 1958, and Sept. 4, 1958. We have them in our bound files but need some for clipping purposes. We'll pay $1 a copy for the first two or three that are brought in.

Wells overrules Price request for injunction

Circuit Judge Courtney C. Wells has overruled a petition from Gem Elkhorn Coal Co., seeking a temporary restraining order to prevent mass picketing by members of the United Mine Workers of America during the current coal strike.

Judge Wells made his ruling last Wednesday, the same day the case was filed.

The suit named as defendants arson Hibbitts, Matt Combs, Bill Perkins, Hugh Gallion and Jim Jones, individually and as representatives and members of the UMWA.

The suit related incidents which have occurred at the coal company tippie, owned by Roland Price, over the past two weeks. It sought temporary restraining order to prevent union members from "disturbing highway in motorcades, from intimidating or coercing employees, or from assembling in massive or intimidating numbers."

After Judge Wells made his ruling, the suit, which also sought a permanent restraining order, was dismissed.

The dismissal was filed by the company's attorney, Logan E. Patterson of Pineville.

Lions Ladies' Night held at VFW Club

Members of the Whitesburg Lions Club and their wives attended the club's annual Ladies' Night program March 24 at the VFW Club.

Lions President Cossie Quillen called the meeting to order and after group singing and dinner served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW he turned the meeting over to Orval Hughes who served as program chairman for the evening.

He in turn introduced a Mr. Lewis, a scientist from a Hollywood, Calif., studio, who gave a humorous lecture and demonstration.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the VFW served a delicious dinner and refreshments.

Mrs. S. E. Moncrief Jr., county chairman, reports that about 40 schools in the county have still to send in contributions collected from cards issued to the children. She asked teachers to send in the cards to her or to report if no contributions were received. Her report to the headquarters of the National Foundation is already very late, she said.

Mrs. Moncrief expressed deep appreciation to all those who worked to make the drive a success. Space does not permit individual mention of the many who gave of their time and contributed so generously, including several children who emptied their penny banks to help other children who are crippled.

Strike front quiet today

Picketing was orderly in Letcher County today as the coal strike neared the end of its third week.

Women joined the picket lines in Perry County this week, but none were reported in Letcher County.

Reports that trouble would occur Wednesday at Roland Price's ramps at Colson sent 16 State Police patrol cars there, but trouble failed to develop. Miners had a holiday Wednesday in observance of the first negotiation of a UMW contract, but there was no unusual number of pickets reported anywhere in the county.

In Barboursville, State Police took into custody three United Mine Workers of America pickets and charged them with murder in the death Tuesday of a nonunion mine operator near Barboursville. One of the three said he fired the fatal shots in self defense after the operator fired at him.

Collins takes postmaster job here

Whitesburg has a new acting postmaster.

He is Sam Collins Jr., 38, who assumed his duties Wednesday. Collins is a graduate of Whitesburg High School and attended Eastern State College. He has operated coal mines but now has them under lease and will devote his full time to the postoffice job.

Collins, a Republican, has not been active in politics here, but his father, Sam Collins Sr., has long been a power in Republican politics in Letcher County and the rest of Eastern Kentucky.

Collins is married to the former Joanne Lewis of Whitesburg. They have two sons, Sam Collins III and William Lewis Collins. Collins served in the Army during World War II.

Mayes to speak

On Sunday April 5 Jeff B. Mayes will discuss "A Proposed Program for the Improvement of Education." Mr. Mayes is principal of Letcher High School. He will be heard over station WTCW at 2:45 P.M. (EST) and over WNKY at 4:45 P.M. (EST).

Miss Letcher County

Carol Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of Whitesburg, will represent Letcher County in the Miss Kentucky contest. She was chosen Friday at a pageant sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. She is a freshman at Eastern State College. Miss Adrienne Jackson of Neon was second and Miss Ann Daniel of Whitesburg was third.

Snapp seeks state school head office

C. V. Snapp, superintendent of city schools at Jenkins, is a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Snapp filed his papers in Frankfort Wednesday night as the deadline for filing neared. He will run for the Republican nomination against Douglas Miller of West Irvine.

Snapp has been superintendent at Jenkins for 27 years. He is a native of Nicholas County and a graduate of Carlisle High School. He holds an AB degree and an MA degree from the University of Kentucky and has done considerable work toward his doctorate. He has served as a director and vice president of the Kentucky Education Association and has held various offices in regional educational associations. He also has served as a delegate and director in the National Education Association.

He is a veteran of World War I, a member of the American Legion and the Methodist Church.

City sets hearing on zoning

The Whitesburg Planning and Zoning Commission announced today it will hold a hearing April 10 on a zoning ordinance for Whitesburg which will be submitted to the city council for approval.

Members of the commission have been working working to draw up the ordinance for the past three months. They have been assisted in their efforts by Charles Cherches, Hazard, professional planner from the Division of Planning and Zoning of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development.

Paul Vermillion is chairman of the commission. Members are McKinley Day, Dr. Lee Moore, Ferdinand Moore, Mayor Arthur Banks, City Atty. LeRoy W. Fields, and Tom Gish.

The proposed ordinance divides Whitesburg into six types of districts, ranging from residential to light industrial, and sets up boundaries, lot and building limitations, and purposes for which property may be used in each district.

It will not affect present uses of property which do not conform with the zoning regulations but will be in effect for any changes in use.

Under the ordinance property owners must obtain building permits from the city before they begin new construction or extensive remodeling. If there is any question as to the zoning rules involved, the commission will rule on them. The property owner may appeal to circuit court if he is dissatisfied.

Passage of a zoning ordinance is a prerequisite to receipt of any kind of urban renewal or low-rent housing help from the United States government for Whitesburg. The hearing next week is the first in a series. The city council also will hold a hearing before it takes final action on the proposed ordinance.

The zoning ordinance is the first step in a comprehensive plan of development to be formulated by the city government.

ALL-STATE BAND-William H. Hall, Whitesburg, is one of four students named to all-state band. He is a son of W. B. Hall, county school superintendent, and Mrs. Hall. Others also honored were Fern Fulton, daughter of Sheriff Johnny Fulton and Mrs. Fulton, and Jean Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Spangler. They will perform at the Kentucky Education Association convention in Louisville April 17.

CHORAL CLUB MEMBERS REHEARSE FOR CONCERT

Zoning Ordinance— symbol of progress

This week's Mountain Eagle carries a notice of a hearing to be held April 10 on a proposed zoning ordinance for Whitesburg.

If ever there was a sure sign of progress in a city, this notice is one. It indicates that at last we are getting ready to say where we hope to go as a city and how we hope to get there.

Future development of Whitesburg will be patterned after the ordinance now under consideration.

We can think of no better way to explain the ordinance's aims than this quotation from the ordinance itself:

"The zoning regulations and districts as herein set forth have been made in accordance with a comprehensive plan for the purpose of promoting the public health, safety, morals and convenience, order, prosperity, and general welfare of the community. They have been designed to lessen congestion in the streets, to secure safety from fire, panic and other danger, to provide adequate light, and air, to prevent the overcrowding of land, to avoid undue concentration of population, to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage control, schools, parks and other public requirements. They have been made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of each district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view of conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout the city."

In plainer words, the zoning ordinance will give you some say about the use made of a lot next door to you or in your block. If you build a $15,000 house, you need not fear that someone will build a shack next door to it and lower the value of your property, leaving you powerless to do anything about it.

The zoning ordinance is not something drawn up in a hurry. It is the result of weeks of work on the part of the city Planning and Zoning Commission, headed by Paul Vermillion, with the aid of experts from the State Department of Economic Development.

The hearing next week is the first in a series and it will be at least four weeks before the city council can act on the ordinance. If you want to know what it's all about, now's the time to find out. If you're going to object, now's the time. We believe, however, that every thinking resident of Whitesburg will applaud the commission's action and urge the council to pass the ordinance as soon as legally possible.

Thanks for help

To The Editor:
I wish to thank each and every individual and firm or business that gave me a donation toward buying band uniforms for the Fleming-Neon School Band. I especially wish to thank all the people of Whitesburg for their generous donations, without their help I could not have raised the $285. I have been criticized and little recognition, but am always willing to help for a needy cause.

Roses need heavy pruning

Lexington, Ky. — Roses will need drastic pruning this spring for the winter kill has been unusually severe, says Prof. N. R. Elliott, Extension horticulturist at the University of Kentucky.

Not only the dead portions must be removed, but some of the new wood back to a good, strong healthy bud. In some instances, only 3 to 4 inches will be left, but by the middle of summer, the plants will be sturdy if given care.

His recommendations:

Give severely damaged rose bushes a generous handful of a good grade of complete fertilizer, scattering it around the plant in a circle about 18 inches in diameter. Cultivation of roses is not recommended, as the soil is usually worked too deep, and the feeding roots may be cut.

To keep the soil moist all

Check fit before buying clothes

Lexington, Ky. — Although a becoming color and style are first considerations in selecting ready-to-wear clothes, a good fit for both comfort and appearance should be assured before the garment is bought. Most women have learned the importance of checking a new garment as they sit, walk or stand, says Miss Verna Latzke, UK Extension specialist in clothing. This is a test in particular for a hipline that is too small or the skirt that is too narrow or too short.

It's time to turn to God

April 5, 1959

"SAMUEL AS JUDGE"

Scripture Lesson: 1 Samuel 3:19-21; 7:

A man of God!

What a difference there is between a man and a man of God!

A man who was originally made in the image of God, and now fallen away from God, because of sin and the death that sin brought by the Word of God—this man trusts in his own fallible wisdom; he works in his own strength; he seeks to build his own empire.

Not so with the Man of God. He has no strength but trusts in the strength of God. He knows no wisdom of his own; his is the wisdom of God. He seeks no empire to rule over; his empire is the Kingdom of God, over which Christ is King!

The weakness of God is stronger than the strength of man. The foolishness of God is wiser than the wisdom of men.

How thrilling it is to study about a true man of God. Samuel was such a man.

Do you recall the occasion for Samuel's coming into the world? His birth was a direct answer to prayer. His mother was childless for many years, though she was well beloved by her husband. His mother, Hannah, came to the temple and Eli, the priest, thought she was drunk as she knelt in prayer because her lips moved but no sound came from them. When he upbraided her for her drunkenness, she told him that she was not drunk as he supposed, but that her soul was in prayer, that God would send her a son. As she prayed she dedicated the son to God, who would be given to her in answer to her prayer. When the son came, she called him Samuel, which means "asked of God."

True to her promise, she brought her young son to the Temple after he had been weaned and gave him to Eli, the priest, to teach him and to bring him up in the love of God and in His service. This is the man who became a judge for Israel. He was indeed, a man of God, even as he had been from the beginning, a child of God.

How important it is to bring up our children remedy are:

An ill-fitting neckline with center back and front, across the collar, too-short shoulder line, too-tight or too-short sleeves, and too snug a fit across the back of the shoulders or through the bust line.

If a garment is to hold its shape, it must be cut correctly and be well made, says the specialist. See that it is cut on in the nature and the admonition of the Lord. A man is but a child made strong by the wind and the storm upon his face. At heart the man is always a child. In his old age he normally shows a childlike nature again and returns in weakness to the sweet helplessness of the little child again. In weakness we enter the kingdom of God: "Except ye be converted and become as a little child, ye shall in no case enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

So the man with the childlike nature, growing in justice, in mercy, and in love, becomes the man of God. We read that "Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground." (1 Samuel 3:19) God lives in the Man of God, speaking through him; judging by him; and blessing the people among whom he lives through the words of truth and wisdom, which are not his own, but God's Truth speaking. Who dwells in him. "For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." (2 Peter 1:21)

When God lives in a man, the community will know it. "And all Israel from Dan even to Beersheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord." (1 Samuel 3:20) "A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid; neither do men light a candle and set it under a bushel, but on a sandalstee, and it giveth light unto all who are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 5:15, 16) There was no question as to Samuel's character or his word from his youth up. "God let none of his words fall to the ground." How like Christ was this prophet of old! This man of God! "And the Lord appeared again in Shiloh: for the Lord revealed Himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the Lord." (1 Samuel 3:21)

Samuel not only judged among the people, when they were in trouble, he earnestly besought God for Israel against their foes, the Philistines. God heard Samuel's prayers and saved Israel. How we need men of God today in the midst of these times of strife and hatred to speak for God and to pray for His people. The time has come for us to put away our idols and sinfulness and turn to God. He will hear us now as of old when we do.

Harry Lee Waterfield's Pledge To The Laboring Men Of Kentucky

During the past few days there have been many malicious rumors circulated among the working men in Kentucky designed to confuse the fact that I am now, and that I have always been, a staunch friend to labor.

The biggest current rumor is that I am a supporter of Right-To-Work legislation. THIS IS A LIE. Anyone who knows much about Kentucky legislation knows that I used my influence as Lieutenant Governor and President of the Kentucky Senate during the 1958 session of the General Assembly to defeat Right-To-Work legislation.

I am the one man in Kentucky who stopped a referendum vote on Right-To-Work legislation on two occasions in the Senate in 1958. The first time was when I got the Senate Labor Committee to withdraw a recommendation for passage of the legislation; the second time was when I got the Senate Rules Committee to kill the legislation.

For almost 20 years I have voted for that legislation which would be helpful to the working man in Kentucky. I have been vigorous during all those years in my opposition to anti-labor legislation. No man in Kentucky has a stronger pro-labor record than I, and no man has fought harder to safeguard laborers' real interests.

My full record on ALL labor legislation during my service in the legislature from 1938 to the present confirms this statement.

I wish to answer the malicious rumors being circulated by repeating again that I am NOT a supporter of Right-To-Work legislation. I do NOT now and I have NEVER recommended a referendum on Right-To-Work. If a Right-To-Work bill is introduced during my term as Governor, I will use my full influence as Chief Executive to bring about defeat of that legislation.

"I am the only candidate who backs his pledge with a record of performance for labor."

Business women hear Mrs. Younas, Pakistan native

By Roberta Halcomb

Mrs. Zokia Younas, from West Pakistan, was guest speaker at the March meeting of the Whitesburg Business and Professional Womens Club meeting. Pakistan, a country only since 1947, consists of East and West Pakistan, separated by India. Mrs. Younas told of how the women of Pakistan are sheltered in the home until their marriage, which is arranged by parents. Very few girls are educated, especially in the villages, as co-education is not accepted, even on primary level, and few villages are able to support two schools. The school age begins at five.

The father is the head of the household until his death. Whenever the sons marry, they bring their brides into the father's home and remain as part of the household until the father's death, at which time his possessions are divided among the sons and they establish homes of their own.

Mrs. Younas is a member of the trained nurses association of Pakistan and teaches Mother and Child Care. She also trains girls to go into the villages to work with community development. Mrs. Younas visited Letcher County to work with Roberta Halcomb, Home Demonstration Extension Agent, and Robert H. Fike, County Agricultural Extension Agent, to study community development methods used in 4-H Clubs, Homemakers Clubs, and Farm and Home Development groups in the county.

Following the meeting, devotional was given by Kathleen Campbell reading an Easter message, Rachel Moore developing a Pastel of Calvary, followed by Elline Salyer reading "The Old Rugged Cross" with the pastel drawing spotlighted. All this was given with organ music, furnished by Ruth Rice, as background.

Visitors for the covered dish dinner and meeting were Shirley Hall, Vivian Fields, Sue Tanner, Sybil Ajalat, Margaret Day, Billy Lois Adams, Genevieve Dawahare, Ina Mae Adams, Cora Addington, Gertha Boatright, Gladys Stallard and Zokia Younas.

Linoleum floors can be refinished

Lexington, Ky. — Homemakers in several counties in the state have renewed their worn linoleum floors or made a new room color scheme possible by repainting the linoleum.

The results can be surprisingly satisfactory, and the work not too difficult, says Miss Beth Burr, UK Extension specialist in home furnishings.

The work consists of putting two applications of a good grade of enamel in a basic neutral color as a background, then applying color in any of the ways given below. Whichever method is used, choose colors that look well together, use paint sparingly, and experiment on paper until the results are satisfactory. Allow each coat to dry thoroughly.

The colors may be applied to the basic foundation coats by splattering, stippling, scrubbing, sponging or stenciling. If a line border is desired, the use of masking tape will assure an even edge.

Splattering is done by tapping the paint brush against a small stick, such as the one used for stirring the paint. The resulting pattern will be a design of dots or small "splashes" in various sizes. Three or even four harmonizing colors may be used, letting each one dry thoroughly.

Stippling is done with an old brush from which the bristles have been cut straight across, leaving stiff ends. Use a straight up and down application of the paint with the ends of the brush. Several colors may be used if desired, allowing each to dry before applying another.

Scrubbing is rolling with the hand a roll of chamois or paper across a thin coat of paint freshly applied to the floor. When the roll of paper becomes soft or filled with paint, use a new roll; or if it is a chamois roll, rinse it with turpentine, then re-use. By working in small areas, the overlapping will not show.

Sponging is done with a sponge or wadded up paper. Squeeze all the moisture from a sponge, then dip it in a thin layer of fresh paint on a board and, with a firm twist of the wrist and hand, apply the paint to the enameled floor. Avoid a regular pattern. When dry, repeat in another color if desired.

To stencil, cut a design from stencil paper and apply paint in the cut-out area with an up and down motion of the stiff brush. Whatever the method, the floor should be finished with at least two coats of colorless varnish, then kept waxed for longer wear.

Here's way to easier housecleaning

Aids in Housecleaning

The old advice, "Use you head to save your heels," is especially valuable during the housecleaning season.

Making a list of the things to be done, then organizing them in a logical way, is a good starting point to be followed by assembling the needed tools and equipment.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Sergeant, Caudill
start conservation

By Cecil G. Hensley

Sam Sergeant of Democrat and David D. Caudill of Jeremiah are the two latest soil conservation district cooperators to have soil conservation plans made on their farms.

Milburn Collins of Dongola recently completed some tile drainage in cooperation with the ASC program and the Soil Conservation District.

E. H. Day of Dongola will soon do some farm draining in cooperation with the ASC and Soil Conservation District.

Layout and supervision will be furnished by the Soil Conservation service.

Melvin Duncell of Thornton and many other landowners over the county are in the process of setting trees.

We will set close to the goal of 500,000 trees for 1959.

If you haven't ordered your trees already, come in and see Cecil Caudill of the ASC office in the vey near future.

The Soil Conservation District has tree planting bars to lend.

Miss Mary Rodgers

in speech tournament

The annual Kentucky Baptist Training Union Convention will be held at the First Baptist Church, Bowling Green on Friday and Saturday, April 3 and 4. Junior and Intermediate Bible Drills and Young People's Speakers' Tournaments will be principal attractions. Miss Mary Rodgers, age 17, Whitesburg, will represent the Southeastern in the Young People's Speakers' Tournament. She is a member of the First Baptist Church and is a senior at Whitesburg High School.

Messages by Dr. J. Winston Pearce, pastor of First Baptist Church, Deland, Fla., and devotional talks by Mrs. Pearce will be features of the convention. Those placing first in Young People and Intermediate events will represent Kentucky in the Southern Baptist Convention events this summer at Ridgecrest, N. C.

Blackey PTA names nominating group

The Blackey PTA met at the school Friday, March 20. About 30 members were present. The following business was transacted:

1. Nominating Committee elected. Members chosen were Mrs. Irene Kinner, Mrs. Goldie Shackleford, and Mr. Vernon Shepherd.

2. Mrs. Goldie Shackleford volunteered to act as Hospitality chairman for April and May.

3. Mrs. Gladys Hampton was selected as chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

At the April 3 meeting, high school graduates who finished the grades at Blackey are being asked to appear on the program to tell what their plans for the future are. One will receive a $100 scholarship award in May. The money will be sent to the college registrar after the student has enrolled.

4. Mrs. Maywood Back was chosen as Civil Defense chairman.

Mrs. Adams' room won the room count for most parents present.

The next meeting will be on Friday, April 3 at 6:30 p.m.

Thirty years ago, an average hour's take-home pay would buy 5 1/2 loaves of bread. Today it will buy about 11 loaves; in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, today's bread is enriched with vitamins and minerals to compensate for those lost in milling and shoes, do the hardest work early in the day and rest occasionally, are other recommendations.

Here are some cleaning hints:

1. Use an upward lifting motion in dusting walls, as cobwebs streak walls if they are pulled downward.

2. In washing walls, use a dry suds, or a cleaner recommended by a reliable paint dealer: do the ceiling first, then start low on the wall and work upward to avoid streaking. Dry suds recipe was in the paper last week.

3. One tablespoon of ammonia to a quart of warm water for washing windows will give them sparkle. For the exterior of windows, use vinegar in place of ammonia to remove the stickiness from falling leaves or other foliage.

4. One way to wash venetian blinds is to hang them opened from a strong clothes line; wash first with a hose, then with a sponge and neutral soapuds, and rinse with the hose. Weight blinds to keep taps from shrinking.

5. To clean furniture, use a good brand of furniture cleaner, or wipe it with a sponge squeezed tightly from warm of scapy water; dry, then wax it.

6. For unwaxed furniture, combine 1 quart boiling water, 3 tablespoons linsed oil or lemon oil, and 1 tablespoon turpentine. Keep mixture hot over hot water. Squeeze a sponge from the mixture and clean a small area at a time. Dry and polish with a soft clean cloth.

Schedule

On Thursday, April 2, the Isom Homemakers will meet at 6:00 (CST) at the Church House, and the Sandlick and Colson at the home of Mrs. Glenn Clay at 1:00.

Friday, April 3, the Fleming Club will meet at Mrs. End Sparks' home at 7:00.

Monday, April 6, the Whitesburg Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ann Collins.

1/2 cup real mayonnaise	1 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 cup mushrooms, drained	1 teaspoon brown sugar
Mushroom liquid plus milk to 1/2 cup	1/2 teaspoon salt
	Dash pepper

Combine ingredients in a sauce pan. Cook over low heat for 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Yield: 1 cup.

Many women have a chicken loaf which has long been a family favorite. If you do not, try this recipe and see if it does not prove to be one you will want to repeat often.

Superb Chicken Loaf

2 tablespoons grated onion	3 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons margarine	1/2 cup bread crumbs
1 cup chicken stock or bouillon	1 cup milk
2 tablespoons flour	2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups finely diced cooked chicken

Melt margarine, add onion and cook just until tender. Stir chicken stock into flour and cook until thickened. Mix all ingredients and press lightly into a well greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour and 10 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.
